
LETTERS*LETTERS*LETTERS*LETTERS*

The thought 'three more months' keeps going through my head. Three more months until I graduate and head out of here. Three more months until I can give up all of my responsibilities and obligations here at the University. Sometimes I really look forward to it. Other times I think that there is not enough time to do all of the things that need doing. At these points, I try putting things into perspective.

The LGSU is more visible than it has been in a long time. We have had interesting and consistent programming. We are working more with other groups on grounds than ever before (OCP, IFC/ISC, Residence Life). We have started a roommate referral service and are planning the first annual LGSU Rotunda Dinner. In perspective, we're doing o.k.

This doesn't mean that there isn't more to be done. I'd like to see more individual involvement in the group, especially from women. As a group, the LGSU must make the rest of the University more aware of what our purpose is and how we benefit the University through education and serving as a conduit for the intelligent exchange of ideas. There is always room for heightened awareness.

My tenure lasts another three months, but the LGSU is here to stay and to grow. All that it requires is support from those that it benefits most. Get involved. If you have an idea, present it; a suggestion or complaint, state it. We need your involvement if we're going to continue growing and improving.

This semester will undoubtedly be an interesting one for the LGSU. Let's keep the momentum building.

David O'Keefe
President, LGSU

 ANNOUNCEMENTS**

Buying refreshments for meetings every week is a strain on the LGSU's teeny pocketbook. We invite all of you kind souls out there to donate refreshments. A few bags of chips, a couple of liters of soda and ice are all that is required; or bring something of your own creation. If you're feeling generous, let one of the officers know.

The LGSU is starting a roommate referral service. If you are looking for a gay roommate, call the LGSU helpline. Your call will be kept confidential.

Call the LGSU helpline for information conversation, support. A friendly ear is waiting for the phone to ring, Sunday-Thursday, 7-10 pm at 971-4942.

The LGSU office will now be open from 11am-12pm, Thursdays. Anyone who wants to visit the office to chat to one of our officers or to look through our vast (?) library is welcome. The office is located on the second floor of the Prism House which can be found on the corner of Rugby and Gordon.
